

FEDERALS STILL IN CONTROL

Reinforcements are Rushed to the Border City of Juarez

BRISK FIGHT OCCURS

Insurgents Ditch Train of 18 Cars
—Refugees Cross River
Into Texas.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 6. — Colonel Rabago and his command of 300 federals entered the city of Juarez at 9:25 Sunday night unmolested by the insurgents and were received with joy by the people of the city.

Fighting was reported last night between 100 federals and 600 insurgents under Alamo, 25 miles east of Juarez, opposite San Elizario, Tex.

The federals attempted to impress eight men at Cinque, capable of bearing arms into service, but the men fled to the American side and are being cared for by the United States troops.

Three hundred refugees from that section have crossed the river and are at Ysleta, Tex.

The star of the insurrection leader, Pasqual Orozco, who was to occupy the city of Juarez by sunrise Sunday morning, appears to be on the wane. His policy of delay has enabled reinforcements to reach Juarez and the probability of taking that city is now considered very remote.

Other reinforcements, in the shape of General Navarro's column, are enroute from Chihuahua and it is expected that the federals will be able to hold the city and that, knowing this, the insurgents will retire. There is a rumor that the insurgents are near Juarez, but this cannot be verified.

The net result of a battle at Baucha Sunday—between Orozco and Rabago was two killed and five wounded among the insurgents. The federal loss cannot be learned, as they carried their wounded with them, but it was reported that 170 had been killed. No definite estimate of casualties can be secured.

The regular passenger train over the Juarez division of the Mexico Northwestern railway was derailed by Orozco's insurgents in a small cut at Baucha, ten miles south of Juarez.

The insurgents, who were stationed within 200 yards of the scene, immediately made an examination because the train had not been stopped when signalled causing them to suspect that Rabago's federals were on the train. The examination proved that the train contained 18 cars and Orozco ordered his men to fire volleys into the air to develop what part of the train was occupied by soldiers, as he had been warned that many might be on the train.

Men began to jump off the train and Orozco, not being able to distinguish who were soldiers and who were not, ordered "no other harmless volleys fired." The insurgents immediately retired to watch the situation over night, thus giving all noncombatants and women and children time to get out of the way.

At 6:30 a. m. Orozco saw soldiers on the embankment getting their breakfast, with a guard and a skirmish line out in front and one machine gun mounted behind the embankment.

Orozco immediately ordered a charge to develop the strength of the federals, and the latter replied with vigor. There were no casualties on the insurrection side, but two of the federal skirmish line were seen to fall. From some of the Americans on the train it was learned that this was the total number of casualties on the federal side.

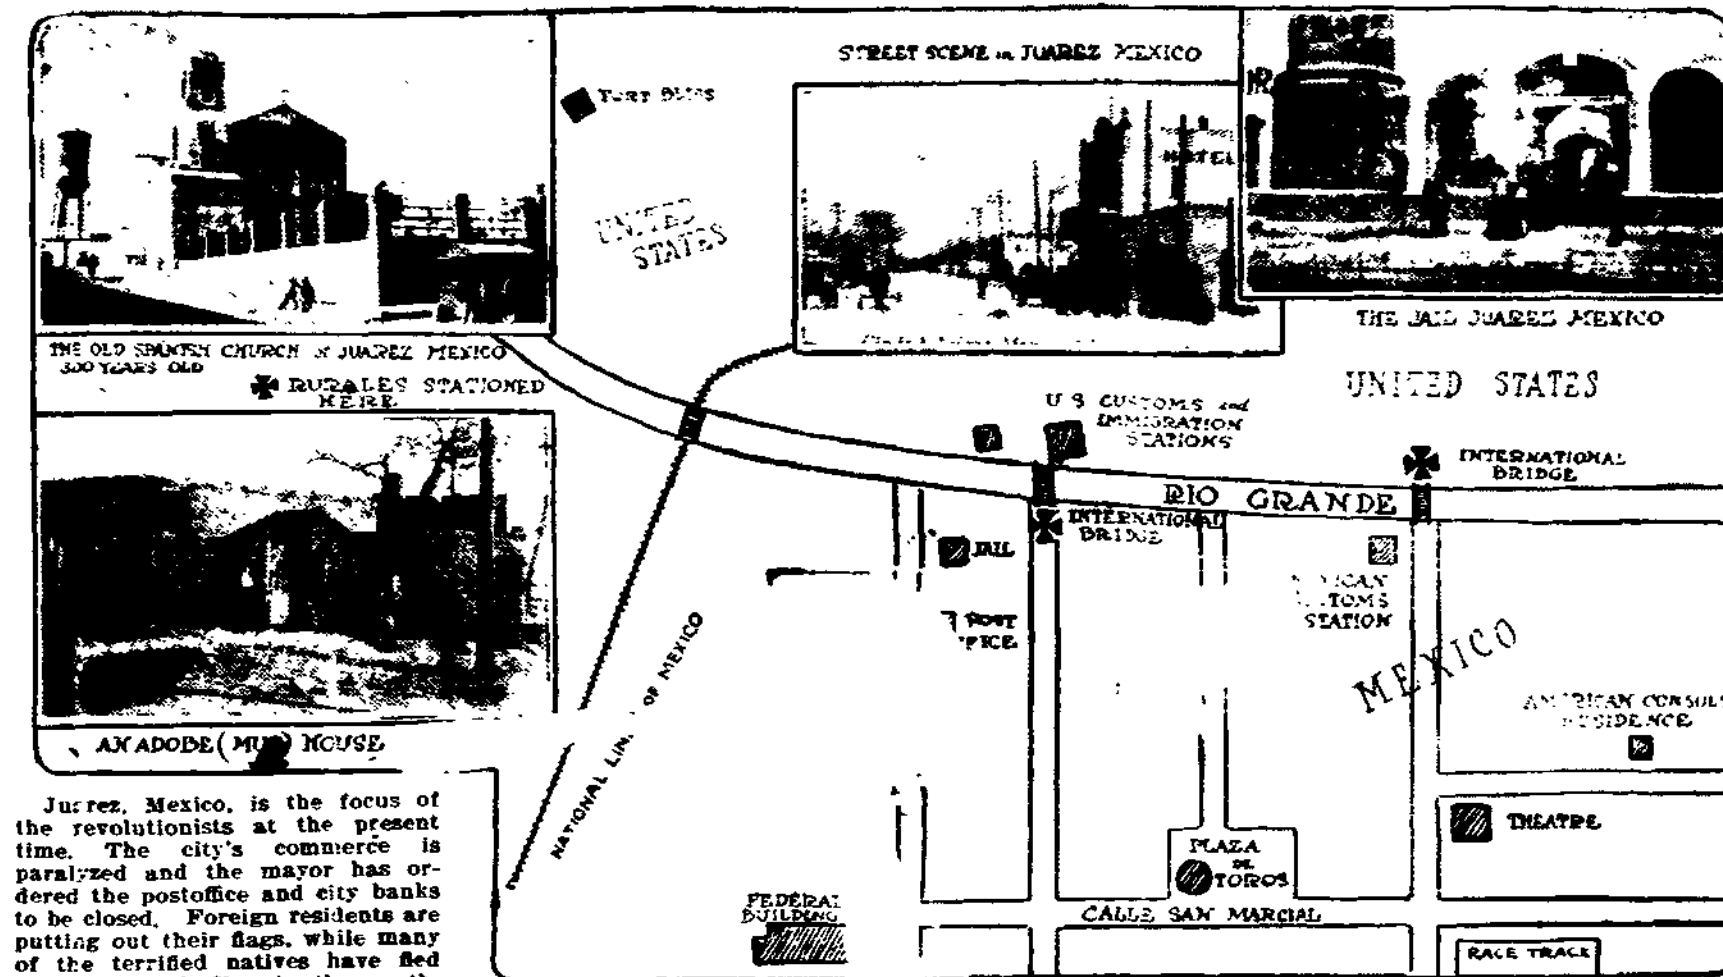

At that time all noncombatants had left. When about three miles distant it was noticed that the insurgents were making charges from all directions on the federal position and the latter were holding their places behind the embankment and replying vigorously.

From men on the train occupied by Rabago it is learned that when the train was stopped the soldiers immediately prepared for battle and began putting out a heavy skirmish line on either side of the train, while others took a machine gun off of the train and began mounting it behind the embankment.

A large number of the men were in the first car behind the engine. Many of these were killed or injured by the derailing of the coach. The wounded were placed in the trench beside the track and everything possible done for their care. Rabago has about 150 men of his own command and from 150 to 200 men of the 18th battalion of infantry, which has been fighting practically for the last ten days.

Sunday morning rifle firing could be distinctly heard in Juarez and also the sound of the occasional discharge of artillery. Orozco is said to have a mountain howitzer with him.

SCENES IN THE CITY OF JUAREZ, THREATENED BY MEXICAN INSURRECTOS AND STRICKEN WITH FEAR, AND DIAGRAM WHICH SHOWS CITY'S IMPORTANT POINTS

Juarez, Mexico, is the focus of the revolutionists at the present time. The city's commerce is paralyzed and the mayor has ordered the postoffice and city banks to be closed. Foreign residents are putting out their flags, while many of the terrified natives have fled over the borderline to the north. Juarez is a deserted city.

Rabago had about 600 men in the trenches and a battle continued all day, which resulted in heavy losses on both sides. Yesterday afternoon he escaped from the position in which he had been hemmed in by the insurgents. His forces started in the direction of Juarez with Orozco and his men close behind them. Rabago escaped by tearing up one of the box cars and building a skidway to get the horses out of the cattle cars. The men were then lined up with their front to the insurgents and retreated 1000 yards eastward.

On reaching the foothills they

WANT CRIPPEN CASE RETRIED

London, Feb. 6.—A report of the Crippen case was demanded today by a member of the House of Commons, who stated that he had written to the Home Secretary, Mr. Asquith, asking that the case be retried. The member stated that he had written to the Home Secretary, Mr. Asquith, asking that the case be retried.

POSTAL SERVICE WILL RECEIVE OVERHAULING

Washington, Feb. 6.—A condition of inefficiency, misadministration and mismanagement has been developed in the operation of the Railway Mail Service, that is likely to result in an upheaval and perhaps in a reorganization of the entire service.

Postmaster General Hitchcock is thoroughly incensed over the situation as it has been disclosed, and he makes no concealment of his indignation. For a considerable time he has been conducting a personal investigation into the operations of the Railway Mail Service. His inquiry is not yet concluded, but the facts thus far developed indicate plainly that its results are likely to be drastic.

Rumors have reached Washington from several points that changes in prominent officers of the Railway Mail Service were imminent; indeed, it was reported that resignations of the Second Assistant Postmaster General, Joseph Stewart, and the Chief of the Railway Mail Service, Alexander Grant, had been submitted to Postmaster General Hitchcock.

It can be said on authority of Mr. Hitchcock himself that neither of these officials has resigned, and that their resignations have not been called for.

Mr. Hitchcock expressed himself as entirely satisfied with the administration of the office of Second Assistant by Mr. Stewart, for whom personally and officially he entertains a high regard, but he expresses himself as much dissatisfied with the management of the Railway Mail Service, particularly as respects the personnel of the service.

His investigation, he said, had disclosed the fact that orders had been issued by subordinate officers of the service placing upon the employees unreasonable burdens and in some instances humiliating burdens.

These orders were promulgated in the name of the Postmaster General, although he knew nothing about them until his investigation brought them to light.

The orders were issued, too, Mr.

BURTON FAVORS OUSTING LORIMER

Washington, Feb. 6.—Senator Burton of Ohio entered the list against Lorimer today with a speech in which he said the legal and illegal vote for Lorimer were so mixed up that distinction was impossible. He claims that inasmuch as there is indisputable proof of corruption and because of the difficulty of telling which was really corrupt votes, Lorimer should be ousted. There is much speculation as to what the latter intends doing.

Republican senators want him to resign and save them the embarrassment of voting him out, but Lorimer's friends say he will stick until fired.

FORWARDING FLOUR TO STARVING CHINA

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 6.—On account of crop failure a million people are starving in China. Seattle merchants are forwarding a thousand barrels of flour by the first steamer, and will send more later.

Each two dollar subscription will save one life. Steamships here are co-operating.

The Seattle Commercial club has sent out appeals for donations to all the principal cities of the country.

THREATENED WITH CHINESE PLAGUE

Hitchcock pointed out, "most outstanding in the fact that I had issued general instructions that in the carrying out of proposed improvements in the service no additional burdens should be placed upon the employees, as I believe that in the development of our efficiency system the heavy good will of the employees was absolutely necessary."

Mr. Hitchcock said the only change in the status of the railway mail clerks was caused by an effort of the department to effect a reasonable readjustment of hours of service, so as to equalize the hours throughout the country. Through the operation of this system the hours of service of some clerks were slightly increased, while those of others were reduced.

The general purpose was to have the maximum of employment not to exceed six and a half hours a day. In the working out of this system Mr. Hitchcock suggested that the railway mail clerks had not been lowered in grade and the service in no respect had been curtailed; on the contrary, the department's efforts had been to obtain, through Congress, improved physical and financial working conditions while striving to keep the service agree with the development of the country.

The investigation instituted by Mr. Hitchcock probably will not be concluded for some days. It is not possible to foretell accurately the precise results, but a thorough overhauling of executive officials of the railway mail service is possible if not imminent.

JOHN CALLAHAN CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER ENGINE NEAR CINCINNATI SUNDAY

One of the worst accidents that has occurred on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad for some time, was that of the wrecking of passenger train No. 102, east bound, at the stock yards, six miles east of Cincinnati, on the Cincinnati division, Sunday morning about 2:45 o'clock, in which John Callahan of this city, one of the oldest and best engineers in the employ of the company, had his life blotted out without a moment's notice, and his fireman, T. V. Brehm, narrowly escaped a similar fate.

When the news reached Newark much genuine regret was expressed by hundreds of citizens over the death of Mr. Callahan, who was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

The body was brought here Sunday on Panhandle No. 29, accompanied by his brother, T. J. Callahan, and a number of friends, and taken to the family home, 121 South Third St.

An Advocate reporter saw Mr. Brehm, the fireman who was with Mr. Callahan at the time of the accident, and from him obtained the following statement:

"We left Newark Saturday morning on engine 1315, pulling train 107, at 7:45 o'clock, and made a good run to Cincinnati. We left Cincinnati on the return trip at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning. When we arrived at the stock yards, six miles east of Cincinnati, the operator at the 'R' tower gave the signal to 'come ahead,' but the signal was thrown against us, causing the engine to turn over on the engineer's side, crushing the engineer to death. I was thrown out of the gangway on to the drivers and from there to the ground. When the engine turned over it was followed by the baggage car and one coach. While the passengers were considerably shaken up, none were injured, and many of them displayed much heroism, quieting and caring for the more nervous of the passengers and assisting the fireman and yardmen in getting the body of the engineer from beneath the engine. A number of physicians were quickly on the scene, but their services were not needed, as the death of the operator would make his death almost a certainty.

Before he left for Cincinnati, the operator was giving to the fatal accident had made arrangements to be taken to the Central station on Monday morning.

John Callahan was a son of the late Mary Callahan, who died about two years ago. He was born in Ireland in 1864, and came to this country when quite young and settled in Newark soon after, making this city his home ever since.

He entered the service of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company in this city as a laborer in the motive power department in May of 1887. He was promoted to fireman in July of 1888, and promoted to engineer on July 4, 1900. For the past several years he has been running extra passenger trains.

Mr. Callahan was twice married, the first time to Miss Kate Martin, of Columbus, who died some years ago. From this union three children were born, two of whom are living, John and Alice Callahan. About nine years ago he was married again, this time to Miss Mary Hogan, who survives him. Besides these he is survived by three brothers, William, George, and James Callahan, a machinist in the employ of the Big Four Railroad Company at Columbus, and Mr. Thomas Callahan, a machinist in the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, this city, and one sister, Mrs. Julia O'Brien, who lives in Ireland.

The funeral services will be held at St. Francis de Sales church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. Father B. M. O'Boylan and the funeral will be under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, of both of which orders he was a member. Interment will be made in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

The death of John Callahan has caused great sorrow among his host of friends, which is tantamount to saying his acquaintances, because every man, woman or child who knew him was his friend. His geniality was never-failing, his fund of humor, which was given an irresistible turn by his rich Irish brogue, was seemingly inexhaustible, while his honesty and uprightness of life could have been a pattern for young men in every walk of life.

His record with the B. & O. as an engineer was unblemished, and while absolutely fearless as a driver, was also regarded as one of the most cautious and careful men on the road. At no place outside of his home circle will his cheerful presence be more sorely missed than at the Central fire station, where he spent many hours between trips, always bringing with him the brightness and optimism of his nature.

Only a few weeks ago, while sitting there, he was reading an account of an engineer being injured by running off a derail, and at that time remarked that it was always his custom to approach one of these devices under absolute control. Those who knew his habits as an engineer are firm in the belief that his death was caused by no fault of his, and the threat of the operator would make his death almost a certainty.

MISSOURI'S CAPITOL DESTROYED BY FIRE

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 6.—The Missouri State Capitol today is a smoking ruin. Fire, which originated in the upper part of the structure after lightning had struck the dome, destroyed the complete structure of the building from 5 o'clock last night until 2 o'clock this morning. The flames, however, were finally controlled. The loss to the building is estimated at $400,000. There was no insurance, companies refusing to take a risk on the ancient structure.

FLORISTS IN CHARGE OF CHURCH

Great Preparations Being Made for Decels-Gould Wedding

BIG REHEARSAL TODAY

Principals Enact Their Roles and Learn Their Cues—$10,000 Worth of Flowers.

New York, Feb. 6.—The full cast of the sumptuous Lord Decels-Vivien Gould wedding, from principals to the pages who will bear the train of the bridal gown, had a rehearsal today at St. Bartholomew's church.

A score or more persons who are to have a hand in the affair worked for several hours like a Broadway show company preparing for the opening night before they learned just what they were to do and when they were to do it.

Following the rehearsal, florists took charge of the church and will work without interruption for the next 24 hours to arrange the $10,000 worth of flowers that George J. Gould bought for the occasion. The church must be in readiness by two o'clock tomorrow afternoon, as the wedding takes place at 4 o'clock.

The festivities preceding the wedding will end with a luncheon tomorrow by Miss Gould to her bridesmaids, at which she will give each of them a gold vanity box, inscribed "From Vivien." In the simile of her handwriting, Lord Decels gifts to his best man and to the ushers are crown-shaped, diamond set scarf pins. The wedding presents are said not to equal in value the lavish gifts received by Marjorie Gould and Anthony J. Drexel Jr. at their marriage last April. Up and down Fifth avenue and the other high-brow retreats it is hinted that this is because Miss Vivien's wedding to a man 26 years her senior is not creating nearly so much enthusiasm among the social elite as the unquestioned love affair of her sister, who turned down titled suitors to wed the playmate of her childhood days.

When Marjorie was married there was a room in the Gould mansion set aside for the display of presents, but this will not be done for the Decels wedding. But at that, the gifts for Miss Vivien could be hooked for enough to pay one's expenses at the Hotel Plaza for a year or more.

The presents from Lord Decels family and friends, it is announced, have not been brought over and Lady Decels will have to wait until she arrives at the Decels town house in London to see them.

FRANK GRAEF SERIOUSLY ILL

Frank Graef, who is now at the Sanatorium, where he was given permission to go by the Common Pleas court, is in bad shape and has been bedfast for the past three days. Graef is under indictment for first degree murder in connection with the Etherington lynching, but unless his condition shows rapid and marked improvement it is doubtful if he will live to be brought to trial.

JEFFRIES RETIRES FOR GOOD

Gives United Press Last Statement for Publication

OUT OF GAME FOREVER

Will Not Even Participate in Exhibitions and Will Answer No More Questions.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 6.—Battered ever since the Reno fight, when he lost the championship to Johnson by "questions as to whether he ever again would re-enter the prize ring or don gloves in public," James J. Jeffries today gave to the United Press what he declared in the last answer he will make to that query. On the eve of his departure for a pleasure trip to Mexico with Barney Oldfield, and his business partner, Jack Kipper, of this city, Jeffries has taken this means of settling all rumors that he and Oldfield plan to box in Mexico City or elsewhere.

"For some time I have debated with myself the question of whether such an article as this would accomplish the purpose I desire that it should; whether it would be worth the time devoted to its preparation. I have decided affirmatively. I intend that what is written here shall be an ultimatum in every sense of the meaning of that word; one the tenor of which cannot be misinterpreted. It is my hope that the public at large will consider this my final word on the subject that has caused me more personal inconvenience than can be imagined. I refer to the question of whether I ever again shall enter the ring. I shall not attempt to say how many times I have answered that query during the last six months. Hardly a day has gone by in that period without that question being put to me. Day after day I answered it seriously and sincerely. I have stated that I will never enter another ring. But the newspapers and public refuse to accept my word.

"It has come to the point where I and the members of my household respond to the doorbell ring and the telephone calls with the same reply to the almost inevitable question on our lips. If some one were to attempt to test your patience by asking you a certain question, say for instance, 'How old are you?' day in and day out how long do you think you could go to the door or to the telephone, hear the question asked and answer it without losing your peace of mind. For half a year do you think?

"It would be difficult to explain what it is to go through such an experience. In my case it has been far more provoking than it would be in the example cited above for the reason that instead of one person putting the question to me each day, the query has come from innumerable sources.

"Do you realize how tiresome this constant reply to a query that appears idiotic to me in my position could become? Every conceivable opportunity to ask this question has been seized upon by the public and the newspapers.

"My purpose in writing this article is to give to the United Press the last answer I shall make to the question of whether I shall ever return to the ring. Under no circumstances shall I again participate in a public prize fight contest or exhibition. I have retired from the ring for all time.

This is the decision I made months ago. It is a decision I shall abide by. In effect it is the answer I have given so often to the question asked in one form or another of whether I would ever be seen in a ring again. At the risk of being considered arbitrary, peremptory, call it what you will, I shall hereafter refuse to answer any query bearing upon the possibility of my re-entering the fighting game."

TOWN CLOCK BECOMES TIRED AND RESTS UP

The city's best friend, the town clock has gone for a rest and as a result many engagements are thrown into confusion and as it may seem many Newark people are "behind the time." Haynes Brothers have charge of the regulation of the mammoth time piece and when questioned regarding its irregularity said the only thing the matter was that it needed cleaning—in fact needed a renovation very badly. About six years ago the clock began cutting capers unbecomingly, a staid old custodian of the hours, minutes and seconds and the cause proved to be that it needed cleaning.

The commissioners were told of the fact, but no action whatever was taken on the matter and so during the past years the dust and dirt has continued to accumulate. Now the clock almost absolutely refuses to work and since last Friday morning no dependence can be placed in it.

WHERE SURGERY FAILS.

Cutting Won't Remove the Cause of Piles.

Piles mean more than merely the pain of the stubborn little tumors. There is a condition inside that must be dealt with. Cutting is usually followed with later and worse attacks. A permanent cure can only be made by bettering the condition of the parts and getting a free circulation of the blood.

Hemorrhoids cure all kinds of piles by internal action right on the cause, sold by W. A. Egan & Son, druggists everywhere, and money back if it fails. $1 per bottle. Dr. Leonard, Station B, Buffalo, N. Y.

Traveling Coat With the New Sailor Collar.

The back of this coat has been photographed to show the excellence of the long-fitted lines and the belt starting from the sides of the back.

The square sailor collar, which is the very latest style note in tailored wear of all kinds, extends down the front as far as the waist in shawl revers, the coat fastening across to one side with two metal buttons matching those on the back.

Collar and broad, loose cuffs, are bordered with very wide black braid. The hat is a practical and very attractive motor and traveling model, suitable for wear with a veil. It is of mixed blue and red straw with a band of white ribbon under a lattice of the straw.

Confessions of a Young Housekeeper

by Barbara Boyd

The Sameness and Tamelessness of Housework.

WHAT I object to in housework," said my neighbor, "is the fact that I do the same work over and over. I never seem to get anywhere. I work hard all day, and the results seem to vanish into air. I get up the next day and do the same thing over again with apparently the same lack of results. I never have anything to show for what I do."

That's the root of the trouble,—having nothing to show for the work done, though she and many another housekeeper doesn't recognize this. They think it is the sameness and tamelessness of housework that makes it so unattractive. But it isn't these qualities altogether. It is largely the fact that they see no lasting results from their work.

Most work has this quality of sameness. A stenographer clicks off a hundred or so letters, more or less, one day, and clicks off as many the next, and so on throughout the year. A salesgirl measures miles and miles of ribbon every day. It's the same old grind, if you choose to regard it that way, no matter what you do.

But a stenographer and a salesgirl and all other workers have a tangible result in the form of a pay envelope each week. This is a pleasant break in the monotony of the work. They may have ambitious dreams of getting on, of working up to pleasant or more profitable positions. But whether they cherish these or not, the arrival of the pay envelope interrupts the monotonous routine most enjoyably.

The housekeeper has no such felicitous moment. She cooks delicious meals, day in and out, and they are gobbled up and not so much as a "thank you" is said for them. She cleans the house, and the folks come home at night and throw things around, and she cleans it again the next morning. In many cases, they show little or no appreciation of her efforts. They seem to think she has been placed there by Providence to clean up after them. That's the reason it seems to her that she never accomplishes anything. She sees no tangible results.

To be sure, she is supposed to do her work for love and love is golden coin. But even this coin is not handed out in perceptible form in many households. The wife and mother is evidently supposed to be a "sensitive," and to know it is there, even though she never sees it or hears of it.

Not only do those who work in other ways see tangible results of their labors, but they work in company. If housekeepers could get together of a morning in some one kitchen or on some back porch and peel their potatoes in company with others peeling potatoes; if a number of them could gather in someone's sitting-room and darn stockings together, they would not find housekeeping so tame. It is this doing it alone, as many a woman does, that weighs on her spirits.

A bride of a few months in a little suburban town complained bitterly to her husband that she saw nobody from morning until night but the groceryman and the ice-man. This is a state of affairs many a bride never anticipates, and many a social little soul is simply made melancholy by the haunting silence of her new home.

These are both conditions that could easily be remedied, and if the individual home is to live and thrive, they will have to be remedied or bright girls will not give up active, interesting business life for housekeeping.

GRANVILLE WINS OVER GAS COMPANY

Court Holds That Village May Regulate Price By Ordinance—News of the Courts.

Village of Granville vs. Crawford Natural Gas & Fuel Co., heretofore submitted to the court upon a demurrer to the answer. The petition alleges the passage of an ordinance in 1898, whereby a franchise was granted to defendant company, embracing certain rights and privileges as to the laying of gas mains and pipes through the streets of the Village of Granville. That defendant agreed to supply the village with gas at 25 cents per thousand cubic feet. That defendant accepted the terms of the ordinance and entered upon the filling of its contract by furnishing gas at 25 cents. The contractual relation was made for a period of ten years under the statutes providing for such contracts. That on June 2, 1908, the council passed an ordinance fixing the rate at 15 cents, and providing that consumers should have the option to take at meter or flat rates, and providing a maximum flat rate. The statutes provide that council may regulate the price, and if they regulate the price for the period of ten years, and if the company accepts the price fixed by council, by ordinance, that makes a binding contract with the company for ten years. The rate is established by the passing of the ordinance and the acceptance of the provisions of the ordinance by the company. The court held that the village had a right to pass the ordinance and entered a decree for the plaintiff. Bond for appeal was fixed at $50.

Fruit Dispatch Co., vs. F. Lisey, on trial to the court and jury. A suit to recover on a shipment of bananas.

Mary J. Lingafelter vs. O. P. Conner, et al. demurrers to the answers overruled. Plaintiff sues to recover damages for the conversion of certain personal property.

John H. Hawley vs. Wason Price, et al., submitted to the court heretofore upon a general demurrer to the reply. The reply sets up a former settlement of the matters in controversy, they being as to the location of the line between the farms of the contending parties. The court overruled the demurrers to the replies. The question will now be tried to a jury as to whether an agreement of settlement has been entered into.

Beattie Lohman vs. Rufus Swinehart, et al. A suit to recover damages for breach of the covenants of warranty in a deed. Decree for plaintiff for $500.00. Notice of appeal given.

McDonald Brothers vs. John I. Smith, et al. A suit brought to marshal liens. Petition dismissed. Notice of appeal given, and bond fixed at $50.

Licking County Window Glass Co., vs. Ulica Gas & Oil Co. A petition filed to procure a mandatory injunction to require defendant to furnish plaintiff with gas. The court held that plaintiff has an adequate remedy at law, and sustained a demurrer thereto.

To Be Arraigned. Clerk of the Courts, Edwin M. Larson, has caused all the persons who were indicted at the regular January term of the Court of Common Pleas, to be notified to be present before the court on Wednesday morning, February 8, at 9 o'clock for arraignment.

Admitted to Probate. The will of James H. Taggart, deceased, of Licking township, was admitted to probate and J. S. Harter was appointed executor. Bond $800.

Hampton's Statement. New York, Feb. 6.—Benjamin Hampton today declared there are three magazines in this country not susceptible to Wall Street control. His is one and one of the others is a weekly, Hampton says because he persists in publishing matter distasteful to them the big interests are trying to ruin him. As a sample he points to the fact that his current issue is not being sold because it contains an article the Standard Oil don't like. The Union News company was ordered not to sell it.

Here are the Five Great Coffee Blends —the Right Blend to Suit Each Taste

Choose Yours!

HOW could these different people with widely different tastes like the same blend of coffee? Impossible!

No one blend of coffee can satisfy more than one person in five—a fact established by a careful analysis of the demands of the coffee lovers in America.

Having the largest coffee business in the country, we long ago shouldered the responsibility of classifying the varying tastes for coffee. After a generation of study, research and experiment our experts are ready for you—you and the four others—each with a personal palate for coffee.

Here are the Five Blends—under the one family name of Golden Sun Coffee, each with a distinctive character in flavor and aroma. Pick yours.

Your best cup of coffee is in one of these packages. Perhaps our low priced Blend will make your ideal cup of coffee. Price, strength, or method of making is not first in importance. The Blend is the thing; a certain proportion of this, that and the other coffee berry for strength, flavor and aroma.

The point is that we start to make your cup of coffee nearer to nature than any other coffee house ever has. Our control of plantation outputs guarantees uniformity.

The expertness of our blenders and roasters, with us for over twenty years, guarantees flavor to your taste and our air-tight, hygienic package guarantees cleanliness, purity and full strength. We pack all Golden Sun Coffee at the critical moment between too little and too much roasting—it is packed warm and sealed before a bit of the rich, luscious natural oil escapes.

Beware of the stale, dusty coffee kept in open bins and the job-lot, hit-and-miss stuff sold by irresponsible peddlers. These no more compare to Golden Sun Coffee than the pulp of an orange compares to the juice.

Your grocer, if he is experienced and anxious to give you the best service will tell you how true these facts are. He will show you the five different packages and the Golden Sun Table of Tastes so you can select your particular blend and have at last your own kind of coffee dependable every week. Tear out your description and package as a reminder for your coffee order.

Your Best Cup of Coffee is in one of these Packages

Coffee of a keen tangy, sparkling character

For those who want a piquant, high-flavored cup of coffee.

Produces the soft, mellow, velvety cup of coffee.

Rich, savory and aromatic in flavor and bouquet.

WOULD THROTTLE THE MUCKRAKERS

New York, Feb. 6.—Wall street is reaching out to throttle the muck-raking magazines. All exposures of "how they got it" are to be stopped according to the New York Press today. The paper gives details of changes in magazine management and shows how Wall street, principally J. P. Morgan & Co., has gained control of a number of periodicals which have bothered them. The Woman's Home Companion, Farm and Fireside and the American Magazine and the Associated Sunday Magazine are said to have been taken over. The Press says the Curtis publications of Philadelphia, the McClure, Hampton's, John W. Hammaker's Periodical, Robert J. Colliers and Cundy Mast's magazines will not enter the combine.

Vincennes, Ind., Feb. 6.—The ambition of Theodore Ice, 18, caused his death. He sought to get into business for himself, and after missing his work as grocery clerk, would go to night school, disregarding his physician's advice. He was found dead in bed yesterday from heart disease.

AMUSEMENTS

ORPHEUM. The bill that is being offered this week at the Orpheum theatre is one of the best. Mr. O. G. Murray has succeeded in making here this season. Lovers of music never had a more thorough treat than is being offered them by William and his famous Imperial Vaudeville orchestra, consisting of ten of the greatest musicians on the stage today. They play some of the most popular and catchy selections from the world's oldest and greatest composers. Mr. Orpheim is also a very excellent imitator, who can be seen by his imitations of the composers of the different melodies as he directs them and his famous orchestra. This is the most magnificent musical organization in vaudeville. Howard and Doolas, render a very clever and entertaining act by their novelty singing and talking skill, which is out of the ordinary. Chas. Leonard, the comedian is doing his share of the fun making, and keeps the audience in a good humor during his entire stay behind the footlights. He is singing some good parodies and is delivering an excellent

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Stories About Robert Fulton

"CHILDREN" asked daddy one evening, "do you know who Robert Fulton was?"

"I know," said daddy, "our teacher told us the other day. He was the man who built the first steamboat."

"That is not quite right," said daddy. "He was not the first man to build a steamboat, but he was the first man to make a steamboat that would run."

"When Robert was a boy he was very bright. When he was in school he always stayed up and read books and wrote letters. One day he was in a gunshop and asked the workman to give him some gunpowder. He wanted to try to do something with it, but he would not tell what. The man gave it to him and nicknamed him 'gunpowder boy'."

"One day Robert arrived at school quite late. 'What makes you so late?' asked the teacher. 'I was busy making a lead pencil for myself,' said the boy. 'Here it is.' The teacher tried it and found that it was one of the best pencils he had ever written with."

"In those old days, more than a hundred years ago, the teachers used to beat the pupils if they were inattentive. Although Robert Fulton was a very bright boy, as you may learn from these stories, he was sometimes mischievous. Once the teacher caught him in some mischief, so he took his ruler and slapped Robert over the knuckles. That made the boy angry, and he said:

"'Sir, I have come to school to have something beaten into my head, not into my knuckles.' Of course he did not mean really beaten into his head, only put there by the master's teachings."

"Robert and his friends were fond of the water and rowing about in boats, as most boys are. One day he was out fishing with one of his friends. The boat they were in was quite heavy for two young boys to row, so Robert said:

"'I am tired of rowing this old boat. I'm going to make a paddle wheel for it. I think I can make a wheel we can push with a pole, so we shall not have to work so hard rowing the boat.' And, sure enough, in a little while he had built a wheel which worked very well with a handle."

"When Robert grew up to be a man he became interested in the question of using steam to make a boat move. For many years he worked until he finally built a boat to go by steam. He named the boat the Clermont, because that was the name of the country house of a rich friend who had helped him with money."

JOHN H. TITUS SUCCUMBS TO HEART FAILURE

Dies on Banks of Ohio Canal Sunday Morning—Saw Service in Philippines and Boxer War.

John H. Titus, aged 32 years, a painter and decorator died very suddenly of heart disease at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning. He left his home, 35 West Church street, about 10 o'clock for the expressed purpose of seeing a physician relative to the making out of some pension papers, and was walking along the canal between Third and Fourth streets, with Ed Brokan, of the Painters' and Decorators' union, when he suddenly staggered and fell into the canal.

Mr. Brokan, with some assistance, got him out and as far toward his home as half way between the canal and Fifth street, when he became unconscious, and the ambulance of Geo. F. Bowers was called and a message sent to the office of Drs. Barnes & Sizing, the former quickly responding, but the unfortunate young man was beyond human aid and giving a couple of gasps, was dead. His body was taken to the Howers morgue and prepared for burial.

The deceased was an expert at his trade and did some fine work when his health permitted him for various Newark contractors.

In 1898 he enlisted in Company K, Fourteenth regiment, U. S. regular army at Columbus, and saw active service in the Philippines and the Boxer wars in China. Returning to America he was mustered out with shattered health, and has since that time been ill a great part of his time, and since last October his heart trouble had been more and more acutely dangerous.

On Friday and again on Saturday he had severe attacks which at the time were thought to be fatal, but he rallied from both only to fall a victim to a third.

He leaves a mother, three sisters, Mrs. O. E. Arnold, of McArthur; Mrs. Herbert Spencer, of Cincinnati; Mrs. George B. Worthen of Newark and a half brother, Mr. Dwight Moss of Newark.

The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon, the services being conducted by the Rev. R. L. Vernon at the First Presbyterian church at one o'clock. The interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

"One of the striking features was the activity of the revolutionists in looking after the interests of Americans. They also afforded the best of treatment to all incoming tourists."

placed their machine gun on the insurrecto trenches. To a group of Americans holding the trenches the federals appeared to number about 400 men. Afterward they moved northwest in good order and were seen to face occasionally to the left and deliver volleys toward the insurrecto's trenches.

Red Cross Not Respected.
A Red Cross train of four coaches went out of Juarez late Sunday afternoon for the scene of the battle, carrying physicians, nurses and medical supplies. The train returned to Juarez last night, bringing in 20 women and children, picked up near Baucha, and one woman, who was badly wounded. They reported they could not approach the battle ground because the federals did not respect the Red Cross flag.

TO TEST AEROPLANES.
Washington, Feb. 6.—Whether experiments with aeroplanes along the Mexican border, where fighting is now going on, shall be conducted by the signal corps of the United States army will be determined today by Brigadier General James Allen, chief of this branch of the service, and Major Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army.

General Allen said that both General Wood and himself were of the opinion that the present fighting between the federal troops and the insurrectos in Mexico, just across the border line between that country and the United States, would afford an excellent opportunity to see how much information his scouts could gather when might be of value in helping outwit an enemy. Secretary of War Dickinson is also favorable to such tests being made.

While Gen. Allen indicated that the decision today doubtless would be in favor of making the proposed tests, he said no orders had yet been issued to air scouts to start for the border. Commanding John Barry Ryan of the United States aeronautical service, will be here today to consult with General Wood and Allen. He will issue the orders to a half dozen or more members of the service to start full speed for El Paso if it is finally decided to use the aeroplanes.

GARFIELD'S EXPERIENCE.

Toledo, O., Feb. 6.—James R. Garfield, former secretary of the interior, declared there is civil war in Mexico without mistake.

He reached here Sunday afternoon on his way home to Cleveland after having had a thrilling time of it at the scene of hostilities in Mexico. He was on the train that was held up by a rebel party near Juarez and aided in attending the wounded of the rebel army. On Thursday he went from Juarez to El Paso and left at once for home.

Concerning the situation in Mexico he said:

"There is no doubt that there is real civil war in Mexico, but the revolutionists are confining their warfare to the state of Chihuahua. There is a force of men under General Orozco who control everything to the north of Montezuma.

"The revolutionists are under strict discipline, but there is marauding of all kinds. They took charge of our train at Montezuma, and all of the 30 or 40 Americans on the train were well treated. The revolutionists paid for everything they got on

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

All Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo.—"For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it too. I can do my own housework, see my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."

—Mrs. DEBRA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is more widely and successfully used than any other remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed. Why don't you try it?
